New Facilitator Tab on our Website

BFO-MR is currently updating our website and will be including a tab just for Facilitators and people interested in Facilitating. Check out interviews with facilitators, FAQs and information on how to become involved. Construction is underway but here is a sneak peak of an interview with Marnie Gerster one of our infant loss facilitators:
Name: Marnie Gerster
How long have you been a member of BFO? 10 years

How long have you been a facilitator? I took the facilitator training in 2003 but due to multiple pregnancies for the next 7 years, I didn't facilitate a group until Spring 2010.
What group do you facilitate? Infant Loss Group
What made you want to become a facilitator? I am a trained teacher so I felt naturally drawn to the facilitator role. I wanted to become a facilitator so I could help others while honouring my son. 3 years after Owen died I felt that there had been profound lessons I had to learn through grief that transformed how I now look at life. I felt a strong need to offer my skills as a facilitator so I could share those lessons with others and help them through their journey.

New Memorial Opportunity Launched at BFO

Bereaved Families is happy to announce a new opportunity for all our friends and supporters. We have recently partnered with Linda Nagel of Candlepower to offer the opportunity to make hand-rolled beeswax candles for your Loved One.

Linda has been making candles locally since 1999 and in 2008 began dedicating her candle making for those who are grieving. She does this through creating workshops with families/friends/work colleagues/communities who have been affected by the death of a Loved One. She is a long time adult educator, community developer and even a novice beekeeper and weaves the stories of the bees with loving heart meditations.

We think Linda's candle making is a perfect match for anyone who has ever grieved a Loved One. Here's why:

- Making hand rolled pure beeswax candles is for everyone in the whole family as a grounding and soothing family activity - for all ages and abilities
- Linda's gentle presence and guidance ensures everyone makes a beautiful candle
- The candles are made from pure beeswax - the best environmentally friendly candles you can get
- Making and then burning the candle can become a unique, simple and meaningful family ritual for remembering your Loved One
- Beeswax candle light (at dinner times or any time) invites an opportunity for healing conversations, reflections, and sharing feelings

It can also support one's own inner practice of holding a Loved One in your heart

There are two ways to enjoy Linda's candle workshops:

The first is offered and paid for by BFO Midwestern Region during our 'reunion groups'. As you may know, for each of our Child Loss, Infant Loss or Spousal Loss groups, members meet for a reunion about 2 months after the group has ended. Linda's candle making workshop will be offered during the reunion time as an opportunity to create a memorial for you and your family. We hope they will inspire and comfort you in the holidays and anniversaries to come. It is hoped the first reunion groups will be making their candles in January 2011.

The second opportunity is for families and friends. You invite your family members and close friends for an inspiring and connecting event with Linda's guidance and presence. All materials are supplied for your choice of sizes, colours and decorating possibilities. Can you think of family and friends who would benefit from a creative healing opportunity like this?

Linda is now dedicating her livelihood to meaningful meditations and memorials through candle making so call her with your ideas, inquiries about her fees or even better come and introduce yourself at our upcoming Open House, August 28th.

Her contact information is: Linda Nagel 519-886-0662 or lsnagel@hotmail.com.

Welcome Linda, we look forward to working with you.
